A NEW WORK.

LIGHTS AND SHADES OF THE EAST.

DEDICATED TO THE HONORABLE SIR BARTLE FRERE, K.C.B., GOVERNOR OF BOMBAY.

LIGHTS AND SHADES OF THE EAST, by FRANJEE BOMANJEE (late of the E. College):—

This Work, to be nearly of the size of Dr. Russell's "Diary in India," 400 pages or upwards, bound and neatly cloth-bound, is now being printed at the Alliance Press, Bombay, and will be out about the close of the next month. The MS. has been looked over, with a view to judge of its merits, by more than one well-known English scholar, and been pronounced as the result of "a great deal of thought," &c. It is an earnest exposition of the Native character in its social, moral, and intellectual aspects, which as yet has been felt a desideratum, and in which, while treating of the life and career of BABOO HARRISCHANDER, the late Editor of the Hindoo Patriot—to whose memory Natives of all parts of India, and even Englishmen of rank and position at Calcutta, have resolved on erecting a monument, the Author analyses the sources of his success, traces how far these are wanting among the majority of the rising generation of India, and points out how the character of the young Indian Student may be completely formed and ameliorated. He next discusses the best means of regenerating the mass of the people; and then passes to a dissertation on "Civilisation," with a view to show that the future Civilisation of the World will take its rise from Indian soil.

With a view to give the most general idea of the Work, the principal heads of the contents are published and may be seen at any of our Libraries.

The price of each copy of the book will be either Four or Five Rupees.

Subscribers' names will be entered at either Messrs. CHESSON AND WOODHALL'S Fort, or ATMARAM SAGOON and Co.'s Kalbadevie.

TERMS.—Two months' credit only allowed. If bills are not paid within this time, interest will be charged at the rate of Nine per cent. per annum until they are so. These terms have been well known for years, yet hundreds who have kept us out of our cash for periods varying from six months to as many years, have eventually refused to pay interest, as they considered us "not entitled to it"! We do not want interest from any one—we prefer payment within two months.

☞ Purchasers will please pay particular attention to what is stated above.

POSTAGE STAMPS.—Only Half and One and Two Anna Stamps will hereafter be received in payment of Bills; and these only when Half an Anna for each Rupee is added to amount due. All other Stamps are of no use to us, and are therefore not required.

☞ We will not be responsible for anything lost after having been posted. Banghy parcels are very rarely lost, but dawks are sometimes "robbed," and the Postal authorities must be looked to for recompense.

BULLION.

LONDON, 10th Oct. 1862.

During the past week the Market has been tolerably active, and prices have undergone some rather important fluctuations.

The Imports include the "Australasian," from New-York, with £200,000; the "Edinburgh," from New-York, with £20,000; and a moderate amount of Silver from the Continent.

The Exports comprise the "Oneida," to the Brazils, with £43,980, of which £36,300 Gold, and £7,560 Silver; and about £170,000 Silver; and 120,000 Sovereigns to the Continent.

The amount of Gold sold to the Bank since our last is £103,000; while about £120,000 Sovereigns have been withdrawn for exportation.

Bar Silver is firmer, and the price has improved to /11¾, the bars by the "Tasmanian" having previously been sold at 5/11½. The Bombay steamer of the 12th will not take a very large amount of Silver.

In Dollars there is nothing doing, and some days will elapse before those by the "Tasmanian," will be sold. A reduction in price is looked for, owing to the ages amount on hand.

We quote Exchange on India:—

SQUADRON ORDERS.

BY COMMODORE J. FRUSHARD, I.N.
Superintendent's Office, Bombay, 6th November 1862.

The Hugh Rose, will be ability to point to two distinct pages in the MS., though I have not seen it for years, in which is contained the most unquestionable proof of its being my writing.

"In making this statement, I know perfectly well the consequences I shall bring upon myself; but I have so long been accustomed to calumny, that I have grown indifferent to it; and I now solemnly declare that my only motive for publishing this letter is to advance the cause of truth, and protect sacred letters from imposition.

"In conclusion, you must permit me to express my sincere regret that, whilst the many valuable remains of antiquity in my possession are frequently attributed to my own hands, the one poor work of my youth is set down by a gentleman who enjoys a great reputation for learning, as the earliest copy of the sacred scriptures. "C. SIMONIDES."

SOME interesting and instructive volumes of autobiographical memoirs have recently been published by the celebrated actor Herr Eduard Genast, of Weimar. Among other anecdotes of celebrities of the Weimar period the following, told by the author's father, Anton Genast, on the origin of the overture to "Don Juan" may interest some:—"already," say he, "there had been a rehearsal on the stage of 'Don Juan,' but no overture was ready; in the last rehearsal but one it was still wanting. Guardasoni made the composer serious reproaches as the opera would now have to be performed without the overture. Mozart, however, appeared entirely unconcerned, and accepted an invitation to supper, on the day before the last and principal rehearsal, from a dignitary of the Church, to which entertainment, also, Bassi, Guardasoni, Wahr and I were asked. The company were in excellent spirits; our host, who knew how to live, had prepared an exquisite supper, and treated us with still more exquisite Hungarian wines and champagne, of which Mozart, as well as all of us, partook freely. The conversation, mostly in Italian, waxed more and more lively, till a certain heaviness of the tongue became apparent in all but our host, and we separated a little after one o'clock. Director Wahr and I offered to accompany Mozart home; during all the way he sang snatches from 'Don Juan,' always returning to the Champagnerlied. The keen air of an October night and the singing had completely overcome him, when we arrived at his lodgings. Without undressing, he threw himself on the bed and fell asleep at once. We, too, did not enjoy the prospect of trotting to our distant homes—our limbs felt heavy; we sat down on an old sofa, and fell likewise soundly asleep. From our sweet slumbers we were suddenly aroused through powerful sounds, and, when fully awake, were not a little amazed at seeing Mozart busily at work at his desk, on which shone the doubtful light of a gloomy lamp. None of us uttered a word; with deep admiration we listened to the progress of his immortal thoughts. For hours we listened silently, not betraying our presence by sign or sound. After 9 o'clock, Mozart jumped up, exclaiming, 'Na, da steht's ja' (Well, there it stands). We followed his example, which filled him with astonishment, in which he called out 'What the d——; how do you come here?' In our enthusiasm, we kissed his beautiful white hands. He divided the score, and asked us to give it immediately to the four copiers at the office. 'Now we will sleep a little!' said he. In the evening, the copied parts, still partially wet, lay on the desks."

"ROADS TO RAILWAY STATIONS."—We are glad to hear from a gentleman who recently visited Messrs. Fleming and Kerr's Model Farm at Nassick, that this establishment is in a most flourishing condition, notwithstanding that many obstacles seem to be thrown in the way of these gentlemen. Amongst other hindrances we are assured that the five miles of road from Deolalee to Nassick is—not to put too fine a point upon it—one of the most disgraceful pieces of engineering work as regards road making that is to be seen anywhere—and that is saying a good deal. Let the reader picture to himself a cross-country road in England, say in Lincolnshire or Cambridgeshire, about which the Trustees are disputing as to which parish the repairing belongs—the wrangling having gone on for years—and this will give him some idea of a road constructed by a (very) Civil Engineer at a cost, as we hear, of some 20,000 rupees or thereabouts. As the Revenue Commissioner, Southern Division, is now on circuit, we beg to direct that officer's particular attention to the matter, when we have no doubt that we shall very shortly be enabled to make a very favorable report on the improvement in this road, which is one of the principal feeders of the railway from Nassick.—Deccan Herald, Nov. 3.

WE have reliable authority for stating that the name of Baboo Ramgopaul Ghose has been submitted to the Government of India as the successor of the late Baboo Ramapersaud Roy in the Bengal Council.—Hurkaru, Oct. 27.

WE are sorry to see that H.M.'s 93rd Sutherland Highlanders, have been ordered into Camp from Nowshera, as the cholera has broken out in the rank.—Id.

WE understand that Mr. C. T. Buckland, Commissioner of Dacca, has been nominated to the seat in the Bengal Council vacated by Mr. Seton-Karr. Mr. C. J. Montressor will probably succeed Mr. Buckland. The former gentleman returns to the Presidency by the Nemesis, and has already been telegraphed to on this subject by Government, whilst the steamer was lying at Galle.—Id.

WE are sorry to hear that His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief very nearly met with a serious accident the other day. In riding from Simla to Nurkunda as he was turning a corner of the road where the "khud" is very precipitous, he suddenly came upon a drove of mules. His horse excited, reared and fell back on his rider, most fortunately in the centre of the road, had it been against the parapet nothing could have saved him. His Excellency received no greater injury than being a good deal shaken and bruised.—Delhi Gazette, Nov. 1.

THE 20th Hussars received a telegram on the 29th ultimo, directing them to march to Agra to be inspected by the Commander-in-Chief. The Cavalry camp of exercise at Umballa will not be formed, the Finance Committee having objected to it on the score of expense. We hardly understand how such a camp can be a source of expense; do the soldiers and horses eat more in a camp of exercise than in barracks? The 19th P. I., part of the Commander-in-Chief's escort, came into Agra on the 27th. The Chief himself is expected about the 8th or 10th.—Id.

THE latest we have heard from Peshawur is the 24th ultimo. At that time they had lost four officers by cholera, Captain Presgrave, Major Middleton, Ensign Drysdale and Assistant Surgeon Hope, 93rd Regiment. On this date there had been no fresh admissions for twenty-four hours in the 93rd, or Artillery, but there had been a few cases in cantonments.—Id.

WE are requested to state that the Rev. William Middleton has been appointed Secretary for General purposes to the Bombay Auxiliary Bible Society in the room of the Rev. T. Z. Wenitzer, about resigned.

THE MAILS FOR SINGAPORE.—The Mails for Singapore and Hongkong, per steamer Bombay Castle will be closed to-morrow (Saturday) at one o'clock P.M.

THE SCINDE MAILS.—The Mails for Scinde, Muscat, Bunder Abbas, Bushire, Bussora and Bagdad, per Steamer Tilly will be closed twelve hours after the arrival of the next English Mail.

LADY GORDON; Mrs. Captain Hughes; child and European servant: Miss Smalley; Miss Maria Smalley; Captain Hughes, R.A.; Lieut. L. T. Perry, R.A.; Lieut. E. J. S. Blenkinsopp, R.A.; Lieut. T. B. Lawrence, R.A.: Lieut. C. D. Dickinson, H.M.'s 19th Regt.; Captain E. D. Creagh, H.M.'s 6th Inniskilling Dragoons: Assistant Surgeon E. Foolner; 46 men of R.H.A.; 147 men of R.A.; 13 women and 14 children under the command of Lieut. Colonel Sir W. Gordon, arrived in our harbour last night by the ship Gosforth from London.

WE understand that Government has sanctioned the appointment of Clerks, with a salary of Four hundred rupees a month, for each of the Civilian Judges of the High Court of Judicature. This is simply putting the Civilian Judges on the same footing in this respect with the Barrister Judges, who have all along had such subordinate officers.

COLABA RIFLE CLUB.—The members of the Colaba Rifle Club will meet on Saturday the 8th instant, to shoot for a Sweepstake. Entrance Rs. 10. Three Shots each at 100, 200, 300, and 400 yards. Hits and points to count and the highest total Score at the 4 Ranges to win the Sweep. Firing to begin at 3 P.M. Entrances to be prepaid.

CROPS IN AHMEDABAD.—From the report made by Mr. Norman, Acting 1st Assistant Collector of Ahmedabad, to Government, and placed in the Editors' Room, on the state of the crops and the prospects of the season 1862-63, it appears that rain fell plentifully and seasonably throughout the Collectorate, and the crops have all along been in a flourishing state. In July and August more rain was necessary for transplanting the rice, and the rain that fell subsequently proved injurious to the early sown crops and to the cotton plants in some places. On the whole, however, there is every likelihood of the harvest being a very good one. The health of the population has been good, and the cattle free from disease. Fever, however, made its appearance in some parts of the Collectorate in September.

SCANDAL.—That the matter alluded to in the following paragraph from our Deccan cotemporary should have become so fully ventilated, as it has in Bombay—the talk of all classes, is very greatly to be deplored: that the facts which form the subject of this great scandal should ever have occurred to shock so violently the moral sense of the community, is far more to be deplored:—

A scandal in high life has been the topic of much conversation in Poona for some days past; but to which we shall not more particularly allude, than to say that the "victim" is the wife of a high judicial functionary, and the "betrayer" a military officer employed in the Revenue Survey, who has resigned the service since the denouement, after receiving, at the hands of the injured husband, the personal chastisement which he richly deserved. The affair is a most painful one in many respects, and all the more so that it has become so notoriously public that there is no way of concealing the principal incidents.—Deccan Herald, Nov. 5.

WE notice that the health of the Town has considerably improved during the last week. The casualties from cholera are much lower, while the deaths from fever have likewise decreased. The total number of deaths during the past week amounts to 247 against 318 of the preceding week; and against 239, the average of the preceding ten years. The following is a classified table of the casualties:—

SMALL CAUSE COURT.—THURSDAY, NOV. 6

(BEFORE J. F. HORE, ESQ.)

The Rev. Gabriel Francisco de Silva, vs. Manoolzee Sorabjee Bhogul.

Dr. Reid appeared for the plaintiff.

Mr. Nesserwanjee for defendant.

This action was part heard before the recent vacation and was for trespass in consequence of the defendant having about March 1862, while in possession of a certain oart at Mahim, known by the name of Horta Fostaleza and Garwarry, the reversion of which was in the Church of St. Michael of which the plaintiff is the Vicar, wrongfully, did cut down a certain sagut tree growing thereon, by means of which wrongful act the said Church was greatly injured in its reversionary estate in the devised tenement, to the damage of Rs. 30 and that the defendant did also wrongfully enclose and build upon a portion of the said oart which was then vacant ground and that he still claimed to hold the same without the permission of the plaintiff, by means of which wrongful act the said Church was greatly injured in its reversionary estate and interest in the devised tenement to the damage of Rs. 450 making in all Rs. 480.

Dr. Reid said, that the case had been before the court on several previous occasions. The defendant had entered into an agreement with the Vicar and two of the wardens. The oart in question had been held by the Church of St. Michael since the year 1781.

Mr. Nesserwanjee urged that plaintiff could not sustain the action on the ground that the legal estate did not rest exclusively in the plaintiff, and that the will put in by the plaintiff had not come through the proper Ecclesiastical authorities.

Dr. Reid then read a translation of the will; and contended on the authority of Addison on Torts, that the Vicar was the proper party to bring the action.

Mr. Nesserwanjee held that the action could not be brought by the Vicar in his own name, but that it should have been in the name of the committee.

Dr. Reid submitted that the Vicar had a right to bring the action, as he represented the Church, that was also in accordance with the common law if as much as the legal estate was vested in him. Blackstone said so. The church had a right to the reversion since 1781, and the defendant had virtually acknowledged that right. The Government had also acknowledged the plaintiff's right by paying rent to him.

Mr. Nesserwanjee submitted that the plaintiff could not sustain the action as he was only one of a committee. He admitted that the defendant had cut the tree, as he had a right to do, but it was now again in full vigor. In respect to the enclosure, there had previously been a katta fence or wall there, which had been taken down and replaced by a chunam one. He also admitted that he had paid a quit rent to the Church of Rs. 2-8 a year. The plaintiff only managed the estate with others, he had no exclusive right. As regarded the will, and as English law governed the Portuguese, it should have come through the regular ecclesiastical authority, and as it had not come in that way, it should not be admitted here, or that it should not be admitted in evidence.

The plaintiff was then recalled and cross-examined at some length by Mr. Nesserwanjee.

Dr. Reid objected to the plaintiff being called upon to produce the certificate of his appointment as Vicar of the Church of St. Michael at Mahim. The plaintiff could not be called upon for any such proof, he might as well ask for the authority of the Bishop or that of the Pope.

Mr. Nesserwanjee replied and contended that the Vicar should be called upon to show that he had the same authority here as a Vicar had in England.

Witness then read the certificate of his appointment to the Vicariate of the Church in question which was signed by the Archbishop, and bore date the 6th October 1857. The duties of a Vicar General was to superintend all other Vicars; the immediate superior of the plaintiff was the Vicar General, who was subject to the Archbishop who was of course subject to the Pope. Sion chapel was affiliated to St. Michael's Church. The oart in question had been left to the Church. There were six wardens, elected by the Parishioners, and an administrator composing a committee of seven persons.

His Honor said, that it was quite unnecessary to ask such questions; the witness might as well be asked how they carried on their preaching, it had quite as much to do with the case.

Witness continued, the agreement produced showed that some 800 square yards of land had been let to the defendant but it did not include that portion of ground on which the alleged trespass had been committed. The witness here produced a book in which agreements had been entered into by many different parties. The names of the Vicar and Wardens were attached to the documents, and in some instances they were entered in the names of the Vicar and the administrators. Witness said that some agreements had been entered into in his own name but that he had not got the book with him. He had enjoyed the fruits of the tree since 1858.

In reply to a question put by the Court witness said, that the property was vested in himself as Vicar and others, and that it was to be used as directed in the bills and bequests of the testators. He could not appropriate it to his exclusive use or benefit or dispose of it.

His Honor remarked, that the position of a Roman Catholic Vicar was very different to that of a Vicar belonging to the established Church of England, and the passage referred to in Blackstone by Dr. Reid had no bearing on the present case.

Some other evidence was taken in support of the plaintiff's case.

His Honor said, that he had allowed the case to go on thus far as he looked upon it as being one of considerable importance. But unless the plaintiff could show that he had a good claim to the exclusive right to the estate he must give a verdict against him.

Dr. Reid said that the plaintiff would join others.

His Honor said, that the action was brought by a person who thought he was entitled to a reversion for damages sustained by the plaintiff as having a legal estate in that reversion. It had been contended that the present plaintiff as Vicar of the Church, had the property in the said Church vested in him, and as the case was to be decided by English law, the Vicar in the present case was a Roman Catholic, and therefore different to the case of a Vicar of the English Church, to whom the property in the Church belonged. The English law of 1726 became the law of the land so far as it concerned the parties. The English law Ecclesiastical did not give the same power to a Roman Cachalic as it did to a Vicar of the church of England. By the statute of George III. C. 32, Roman Catholics were not capable of purchasing or inheriting landed property, and he was not aware that any of the other acts had given them any extent of powers. As the law of 1726 had not been altered, His Honor was of opinion that the plaintiff had not a legal right. The learned counsel for the plaintiff had said that independant of that, the property had been conveyed to the Vicar of the Church. But His Honor found that the property in question had not been conveyed to the Vicar, but to the Church by the will. It was for the counsel for the plaintiff to show that in an action of the kind before the Court, that the property was vested in the vicar and until they could show that the English law was other than had been stated, and that the property was given to the Vicar for the time being, he could not give him a verdict. The opinion given was one off-hand as he had not time to give a better one. Therefore he would non-suit the plaintiff, who could apply to the full Court for a new trial.

Dr. Reid, said that the act disabling Roman Catholics from holding such property did not extend to India. When Bombay was given to Charles II. as a dowry with the Portuguese Princess, the Portuguese laws were respected. Therefore, he submitted that the case should not be decided according to the common law of England.

His Honor said, that he non-suited the plaintiff as they had failed to show they could sustain the action. The case had been put before him in the light of an action that might have been successfully brought in England. The statutes prohibited the plaintiff from having any vested right in the property of the Church.

Plaintiff nonsuited, costs certified for.

NEWS LETTER.

THE following is from a correspondent from Hyderabad in the Deccan:—

"A curious case has recently occurred here, which deserves to be prominently noticed, and I accordingly enter into the full particulars to admit of the facts being more clearly understood.

"A Sub-Assistant Surgeon by the name of M——, who was lately in the Nizam's Contingent, contrived (by bringing a strong letter of recommendation, from the late Resident of Hyderabad, the lamented Colonel Davidson,) to gain admission into the service of Nawab Shums-ool-Oomrah and his son Iktidar-ool-Moolk. With their wonted liberality, they gave him a post of 150 or 200 Rs. per mensem, which was more like assigning him a pension, for he held a perfect sinecure on their establishment, with literally little or nothing to do; owing to his credentials, he was treated with every consideration by both father and son, till he abused their confidence by an act which reflected great discredit on him.

"It seems that he, in consort with his "better half," fabricated an epistle purporting to be from, and bearing the signature of, "Ellen Davidson," and addressed it to Iktidar-ool-Moolk, to whom it was brought at mid-day by the hands of a chuprassee to all appearance from the Residency, as he had on the livery and the silver badge extant there. With the letter, the man delivered a message to the effect that the Nawab should have the communication read and interpreted by a confidential agent. Scarcely had the letter been received by the Nawab, while he was holding his Durbar, when in came Mr. M—— himself, feigning perfect ignorance of what had transpired. Thinking him the most fit person to peruse the document, and to translate its contents, the Nawab little suspecting the origin from whence the letter actually came, asked Mr. M—— to read the communication and to explain its meaning.

"Mr. M——, with well assumed difficulty in decyphering the writing, gradually explained the purport, sentence by sentence, which ran to the effect, that the writer's father had recently demised, when his estates and other property were confiscated on a false claim preferred by a Lord L——, and that she, "Ellen Davidson," was about proceeding to Europe, to adopt measures, legal and otherwise, to recover the property, which was rightly her own, as the nearest surviving relative. But as such an object could not be accomplished without the requisite pecuniary means, she prayed that the Nawab would be so good as to advance her an adequate sum of money for the purpose, which she would thankfully repay in the course of about six months.

"Iktidar-ool-Moolk readily believed the story and offered to lend her fifty thousand rupees, deputing Mr. M—— who volunteered his services on the occasion, to communicate with the lady, whether that sum would be enough. Seeing by this that the Nawab was disposed to advance even more Mr. M—— brought back a message to the effect that fifty thousand would barely be sufficient, but that double the amount would better answer the end of a successful law-suit on her part, for law-suits and their concomitants were very expensive affairs in England. The Nawab accordingly, coming as the request ostensibly came, from one in so high a position. He said however that, he could not give the cash but would procure Hoondees on Madras or Bombay, whichever she preferred, from the Sahookars, on his responsibility, and that she could obtain Bills on England from either of these Presidencies,

The matter was so far satisfactorily settled, and the negociation concluded by this last arrangement. But six months and more elapsed without any signs of the money being refunded. The Nawab became a little uneasy and told Mr. M—— that he could not divine the reason of the delay in the repayment of the amount, but Mr. M—— passed off the matter by attributing it to various probable causes. Eventually however the Nawab having had grounds for suspecting that there was something wrong in the transaction, and that foul play was at the bottom, laid the matter before the Assistant Resident in all its bearings. An investigation followed, when it was discovered that the whole affair was a fabrication from beginning to end, and that Mr. M—— appropriated the money to himself; though in the progress of the enquiry and to screen himself, Mr. M—— tried to implicate the Nawab by making it appear that he received the money, to secure the 'Dewanny,' or position of Premier, for his employer whereas the bare-faced assertion was entirely disproved by the documents produced. Mr. M—— was therefore placed in custody, to undergo his trial, the result of which remains to be seen.

"It is thus that innocent men are sometimes brought into trouble by designing individuals, nor is this the first instance, for owing to the exalted position occupied by Shums-ool-Oomrah and his son, among the nobility of Hyderabad, they are received with some degree of jealousy by the rest, especially by the present Prime Minister, who thinks Iktidar-ool-Moolk a thorn in his side and a rival for his office of Premier." The Minister there requests his partisans to resound his praises in the prints, and to run down the Nawab at every opportunity.

"As an instance of this nature, it may be here mentioned, that when the Resident, Colonel Davidson's life was attempted by an assassin shortly after the mutiny, it was given out that some of Shums-ool-Oomrah's family had instigated the deed. This good old man was so indignant at the foul stigma cast upon his name, and that of the members of his household, that he addressed Colonel Davidson on the subject, and begged that he would institute a strict enquiry and record his unbiassed judgment on the merits of the case. The result was, that after a most rigid investigation, the Resident reported the result to Government in a public letter, from which the following extract was officially furnished to the Nawab in full exoneration of all or any blame that Salar Jung's partisans tried to throw on him and his family.

Extract of a letter from Colonel C. Davidson Resident of Hyderabad, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Foreign Department, dated Hyderabad Residency, the 19th March 1859, No. 40.

Para. 22.—"I fully exonerate Shums-ool-Oomrah, from all knowledge of what took place. It would be an insult to his proved and tried fidelity in time of the greatest emergency, when he supported me by all his great influence, for one moment to suspect him. I also acquit Iktidar-ool-Moolk and all his immediate family of knowledge or complicity in the present attempt on the life of the British Resident, and as they were much agitated and unhappy on the point, I have given them assurances accordingly. I have already, in my telegram reporting the occurrence, stated my opinion that the actual deed was the act of an individual assassin, and I have seen no reason to change this view of the case.—Delhi Gazette, November 1.

POONA.

We give below Major General Hale's Farewell Order on resigning the command of the Poona Division of the Army. The General left Poona for Bombay on Monday last, and does not, we understand, leave for England until the departure of the mail-steamer on the 27th instant:—

Major General Hale being about to proceed to the Presidency for the purpose of embarking for Europe, desires previous to relinquishing the Command of the Poona Division of the Army, to record in orders his high sense of the zeal and ability which the Officers Commanding Brigades and Stations have evinced in the exercise of their respective Commands; the most satisfactory proof of which is the present high state of discipline and efficiency of the troops under them.

To Major Wood, the Assistant Adjutant General, to Major McDonald, the Assistant Quarter Master General, to Major Sandwith, the Deputy Judge Advocate General, and to Major Holland, the Assistant Commissary General, the Major General's best thanks are due, for the able assistance they have at all times afforded him, and for the unremitting attention they have devoted to the discharge of the important duties of their respective departments.

Major General Hale's thanks are also due to Deputy Inspector General of Hospitals Dr. Grierson, for the able manner in which he has conducted the duties of his department.

The Major General bids a cordial farewell to all ranks under his command, and requests them to accept his assurance of the lively interest he will ever feel in their future honor and welfare.

Brigadier Heath will assume command of the Division on the departure of Major General Hale.—By Order,

H. H. A. WOOD, Asst. Adjt. General P. D. A.—Deccan Herald, Nov. 5.

NASSICK RAILWAY ACCIDENT.—We regret to learn, that a serious accident happened to the Railway train near the Niphar station a few days ago. The train from Egutpoora, though set down in the Time Bill as to start at 6-30 A.M., on this occasion did not leave that station till 8 o'clock, and ran off the line at the Niphar station, or rather just before it got there. Most providentially the train was going at the rate of only some four or five miles an hour or the consequences must have been fatal to many lives. As it happened no one was hurt; the Engine driver jumped off his Engine, and the Guard managed also to save himself by taking a flying leap out of his brake-van. The line was completely blocked up, and the rails torn up for about one hundred yards. The accident occurred close to the bridge, and if the train had been one hundred yards further on, the whole must have been precipitated into the river. All the passengers were brought back to Deolalee station, and amongst them Dr. Bruce, of the 2nd Light Cavalry, and Captain Kirkland, of H. M.'s 106th Regiment Bombay Light Infantry, both on their way to Neemuch. The line will not, we are told, be open for some days, as the Engine, and eight or ten trucks, which as providentially as the other circumstances of the accident were next to it, are imbedded in the embankment, and it will require some time to clear and replace the rails which are all torn up. Our informant speaks highly of the exertions being made by the railway authorities to repair damages, but he considers there must be something very wrong in the working of the line, for such an accident to have happened at all, and which never can improve until the Ghaut inclines are open. We understand that the cause of the accident was a native plate-layer having withdrawn a sleeper and replaced it just as the train approached, and who forgot or omitted to fix the keys into the chairs; the consequence of which gross negligence was that the rails were perfectly loose and opened out. The Muccadum of the plate-layers has, we hear, been placed in custody, and we sincerely hope that both he and the plate-layer who was the cause of an accident that might have been attended with a heavy loss of human life, will meet with the punishment they deserve.—Id.

BENGAL.

WE hear that in the Budget Estimate for the year 1862-63 in the sum of 40 lakhs of Rupees has been allotted for the new Constabulary Police in the Mofussil, out of which the sum Rupees 50,000 has been reserved for the maintenance of a few Schools hereafter to be established for the purpose of training up young men for the Constabulary Force.—Hurkaru, Oct. 27.

THE Annual Report of the Stamp Office, recently submitted to the Government of Bengal by Mr. Crawford appears to be highly satisfactory. The proceeds of the sale of Stamps during the year 1861-62 amounts to upwards of a crore of Rupees, exclusive of those of the adhesive Postage Stamps. The above-mentioned Report contains several valuable suggestions for improvement in the Department, the result of experience derived from Mr. Crawford's late visit to the London Stamp Office. Amongst other things, the Superintendent recommends that Bombay should be supplied with Stamps from this Presidency. In consequence of the recent increase of responsibility attached to the Office of the Native Khazanchee of the Stamp Office, Mr. Crawford has proposed that the amount of his security should be increased from Rupees 60,000 to one lakh, and that his salary should be increased from 260 to 500 Rupees a month.—Id.

WE are indebted to the Traffic Manager of the E. I. Railway for the subjoined particulars of the late accident. We took the precaution yesterday of sending an Agent to make enquiries on the spot, but the two versions are so nearly identical in every essential particular, that we adopt the one sent by the Company. The communication, we cannot help remarking, is rather of a novel kind for India, although an every day occurrence at home and elsewhere, where it is held to be of primary importance to supply full particulars (not alone of Railway accidents however) to be public Press. By these means the correct version is at once made public, and exaggerated accounts, which are certain otherwise get abroad are suppressed. The example set by Mr. Batchelor if followed by heads of departments, and others, would obviate the annoying mistakes into which Editors in India occasionally fall. Here is the account sent us.

To the Editor of the Bengal Hurkaru.

SIR.—As much anxiety will doubtless be felt regarding the nature and extent of the accident on this Railway on Friday last, I beg to send you the following particulars:—

The accident occured between the Bhulpore and Ahmoodpore Stations, at the 108th mile post from Howrah, by the falling in of a five-arched brick bridge or flood opening in the vicinity of the Buckesore river.

The floods had risen from continued rain to an unprecedented height, and further up the line a considerable length of the Telegraph wires had been carried away.

The bridge had been passed over, without anything wrong being observed, by two trains shortly before the time of its giving way, which happened about noon, and just as a down goods Train was approaching.

It appears the driver of this Train on nearing the bridge observed the roadway had settled, but not sufficiently so as to cause any displacement of the rails. He shut off his steam, reversed his engine and used every endeavour to stop his Train but finding he could not do so, short of the bridge, jumped off calling on his assistants and the guards to do the same, and the whole of them escaped without injury. As the Train passed on, the bridge sank with it, and the engine and wagons were precipitated into the flood.

From the best examination that could be made of the remains of the bridge, by the engineers and Government officers it would appear that the accident arose from that heavy flood current having undermined the foundations of one or more of the piers of the bridge, and this will account for the superstructure showing no signs of weakness until it was observed by the Driver of the Train that met with the accident.

Arrangements have been made for the construction of a temporary road, which it is expected will be open for all traffic, as usual, by Wednesday or Thursday next, and in the meantime passengers will have to change carriages at the scene of the accident. The merchandise, horse and carriage traffic being stopped for a few days.—I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

C. HARRISON, Traffic Manager.

Calcutta, 26th October 1862."

OUDH.

The news of Sir George Couper's nomination to officiate as Judicial Commissioner, during Mr. George Campbell's absence at Calc may fitly precede any description of the plans adopted for the mitigation of distress.

The vast aggregate of houses popularly known as Manchester shelter some half-million of inhabitants, who are under the legal charge of three boards of guardians. The jurisdiction of the first extends over the single township of Manchester, which contained, according to the census of 1861, 185,000 souls, but the population of which, owing to causes such as affect the City of London, is slowly on the decrease. The black ditch, which geographers call the Irwell, and natives "Th' owd River," parts Manchester from Salford, a town with its own member of parliament, its own mayor and corporation, and its own poor-law government. The Chorlton-on-Medlock Union, which includes the populous townships of Hulme and Chorlton, lies generally to the south and west of the city. Newton Heath, a rapidly growing district on the side of Manchester towards Oldham, is, I believe, in a fourth union, that of Prestwich, but need not here be more particularly taken into account. The statistics of employment prepared by the head constables, follow the line of demarcation which parts the two boroughs. In Manchester, therefore, inclusive of Chorlton and Hulme, I find that on the 30th of September there were 215 mills and workshops of various kinds; of which 34 are returned as belonging to the cotton manufacture. In these are employed 48,179 hands; of whom 22,962 are on full time, 11,252 are working short time of different periods; and 13,954 are wholly without employment. A similar return for the borough of Salford, but made up to the date of Oct. 3rd, gives 177 as the number of mills, of which only 49 are cotton, silk, and woollen factories. There are 21,227 hands; 8,920 at work as usual; 6,731 on short time; and 5,846 out of work. In round numbers, therefore, the city contains 70,000 operatives, of whom 18,000 are only partly employed, while nearly 20,000 are idle upon the streets. As far as the tables allow me to judge, about 14,000 of the wholly unemployed are to be credited to cotton and silk.

By the side of this statement I desire to place, in the highest possible form, the statistics of poor-law relief. In the week ending September 27, the Manchester board distributed out-door relief to 7,739 cases, including 18,739 persons, at a cost of 1,338*l.* 9s. 5d., being after the rate of 1s. 5d. per head. In addition to this 3,029 persons are in the different workhouses belonging to the board. In the same week the Chorlton board relieved 6,575 individuals, at a cost of 385*l.* 4s. 4d.; while in Salford, 6,013 persons had distributed among them the sum of 416*l.* 12s. 1d. From these figures it follows that the number of persons in Manchester receiving in the last week of September out-door relief was no fewer than 31,327, at a cost to the city of 2,138*l.* 5s. 10d. To this appalling mass of poverty every week makes a considerable addition.

Presently I may have to say a word or two of the spirit and methods of poor-law administration in Manchester. I turn now to the efforts of voluntary organizations. The District Provident Society stands to the Central Committee as the representative of Manchester benevolence, and is the means of distributing to the various local boards the pecuniary aid voted to necessities of the city. It has existed since the year 1833, though in a different form to that which it has of late assumed. It had originally two functions—first, that of an inquiry office, to which cases of mendicity were referred by its subscribers for investigation; and, secondly, resembling what is now familiarly known as a penny bank. In its first capacity, the society itself rarely gave relief, but contented itself with sending back each case, with the ascertained facts, to the subscriber who had initiated the inquiry. In its second, it received, through benevolent persons who took charge of a district, or at fifteen branch offices in different parts of the town, the small savings of the poor, giving, however, no interest, and recommending the transfer to the savings' bank of all deposits above 1*s.* In ordinary times the aggregate of such savings would be from 80*l.* to 100*l.* a week, now they are reduced to some 14*l.* or 15*l.* Such a society, therefore, with its body of trained visitors seemed to afford a basis for wider organization; and its managers, while not abandoning their ordinary subscription list of 400*l.* to 500*l.* a year, offered to take charge of any central fund for the relief of distress which might be placed in their hands. The result was that up to October 3rd they have received, without any canvassing, 11,450*l.*, which includes, I believe, 250*l.* from the Central Committee. Subscriptions still flow in at the rate of 200*l.* to 400*l.* a week; it being understood by many wealthy men that a regularly recurring gift is what the Provident Society most willingly receives.

The society encourages application to the board of guardians; and in point of fact 78 per cent. of the families relieved by it are also in receipt of parish help. Their aids of relief, as I ascertained practically, by undertaking for an hour the duties of relief clerk, is about the following:—the income of a single person is made up to 3*s.* 2*d.*: of a family of two, to 5*s.* 6*d.*, or 2*s.* 9*d.* a head; of three, to 2*s.* 3*d.* a head; of four, to 2*s.* a head; of five, to 2*s.* 6*d.*, or about 1*s.* 11*d.* a head. They estimate the average income of each individual (including children) who is entered upon their books at 21.91*d.* or nearly 1*s.* 10*d.* of which the society furnishes a fraction more than 6*d.* The relief is given in the shape of tickets for bread, meat, and soup. The two former are exchangeable only at a single shop, not far from the head-quarters of the relief department, the owner of which is virtually the society's agent, and is paid by a trifling profit upon wholesale prices. The soup is made at a larger kitchen, recently fitted at a cost of 250*l.*, and supported by the Society of Friends. It is charged to the society at 1*d.* a quart, its real cost being 1½*d.* It is impossible that any system can be a perfect security against imposture; but that of the Provident Society has at least the merit of being well contrived and throughly carried out. The utmost facilities are given for application, each case is visited and investigated, employers of labour are referred to in corroboration of statements as to work and wages, the officers in every district are accustomed to claim the co-operation of the poor-law officials, and each case is gone into afresh at the expiration of six weeks. In a city like Manchester, where the working population is little more than a collection of atoms, grouped by no other arrangement than that of chance, where employment is very various, and few employers stand (from the very necessity of the case) in any but a commercial relation to their hands, it is possible enough for some item of wages to escape the visitor's acuteness, and so to open the door to imposture. As a rule, however, paid officials, whether of a relief committee or a board of guardians, soon acquire an adequate degree of suspicious incredulity, and may be trusted not to believe too much; while the published averages of the Provident Society show that it is not extravagant in its benevolence. In the week ending Sept. 24, 5,207 applications were made for help. Of these 40 were referred to the medical charity, and the rest, 5,167, were remitted, as special cases, to the care of individual subscribers; and 619 were dismissed. The remaining 4,716 were relieved, in bread and meal, at a cost of 403*l.* 14*s.* 6*d.*, and in soup to the value of 60*l.*

Although I reserve the general subject of sewing-schools for my next letter, a word is due to that which the Provident Society has established in its own premises. When the operations of the society received so unexpected an extention, an old mill, not very far from the centre of the town, was taken and fitted up for the use of the relief department. It was an uninviting spot; the rooms low, the floors saturated with oil, and the whole place in a condition of filthy neglect. But the task of preparing it for the reception of the society was entrusted to some of the applicants for relief, and it is now not only thoroughly clean, but bright and almost tasteful with blue and white-wash. Here, in an upper room, are 107 girls from 15 to 25 years of age, nearly all orphans, but all of approved character, who are thankfully earning their 9*d.* a day. Most of them lived in lodgings, the rent of which they had no means of paying when work fell short: with no home to fall back upon, what alternative but the street? A very careful investigation had been made into the habits, and circumstances of every one; and I was assured that many had nothing to cover them at night but the poor thin clothes which they wear during the day. They were very ignorant when they first came; many had to go through a course of instruction on patchwork, which itself was unpicked and rudely stitched again more than once. One unsuccessful candidate for admission, 37 years old, and a mill-hand all her life, curiously illustrated the prejudices of her class by the remark, "That she trusted never to have been brought so low as to earn her living by the needle." Admission to a sewing class is held by the guardians to be equivalent to an application for relief; the case is visited by the proper officer, and the sum which under circumstances would have been granted to the applicant is paid as part of the wages. Arrangements, too, are now being made (and when some little official slowness has been overcome will be carried into effect) for paying these girls apart from the crowd of out-door paupers. The clothes which the class makes are being already given away, and the stock upon the shelves of the society is but small. With winter will come the difficulty, in Manchester as elsewhere are already devising means to meet—the difficulty of supplying clothes, and bedding and fuel, as well as food, to a half-naked population.

Up to a recent date of operations of the Provident Society, as directed by the central board, extended themselves over the whole city. Now local relief boards have been formed in different districts, whose task it is to collect subscriptions, and to organise services which might be beyond the reach of a general committee. When the organisation is complete, and the branch society is found to work satisfactorily, the parent acknowledges the child, engages to provide part of the necessary funds, and entirely abandons the district thus covered. One important principle, however, which determines the relation of the Provident Society to a proposed offshoot is this—that unsectarian itself, it will not recognise sectarianism in others, and demands that the district committee shall in every way represent the inhabitants of the district. Nine local boards, whose sphere of action is conterminous with as many ecclesiastical parishes, by the names of which they are known, are already fully organised, and carry out the plans of the parent society. The township of Chorlton-on-Medlock and the borough of Salford, are similarly dependent. The townships of Hulme and of Ardwick are still not organised up to the standard required for recognition. At present the Provident Society has only been entrusted by the central committee of relief with the distribution of 450*l.* to its Manchester branches; but I am glad to see that among other large grants made yesterday (October 6) was one of 2,500*l.* to Manchester and Salford. What the branches have themselves done is not very easy to gather from the unfinished reports which appear from time to time in the Manchester papers. Salford alone has raised above 4,000*l.*; Hulme some 500*l.* The secretary of the Provident Society, who has better means of forming an opinion than any other person, estimates the total amount thus contributed (exclusive of Salford and Hulme) at 3,140*l.*, and the number of persons relieved by the district committees up to September 20th, at 62,035.

I would not have it understood that this account exhausts the benevolence of Manchester. How many private soup kitchens there may be, or to what extent millowners are relieving their own hands, it is impossible to ascertain. Few relief committees confine themselves to bread and meal; and the returns before me I see many entries of soup, coffee, tea, rice, sugar, potatoes. One fact I cannot deny myself the pleasure of making more widely known. The workmen in Messrs. Sharp, Stewart, and Co.'s well-known machine shop have formed themselves into "the Atlas Works Relief Committee." Every week during the month of September the workmen's subscriptions amounted to from 13*l.* to 16*l.*, to which the employers added a fixed sum of 10*l.* The whole was divided by the workmen at their own discretion among different district committees for distribution, and a balance-sheet duly drawn out and published. I have heard of a similar gift by the men employed in Messrs. Beyer, Peacock, and company's great works, to the necessitous poor of the village of Gorton. Beyond doubt the same excellent example is being followed in many other places of employment, yet untouched by the entermission of trade.

Even such a hurried survey as this of what is being done in Manchester (and the case is parallel in most of the towns round about) may do something to convince benevolent people at a distance that few real cases of distress can escape notice and relief. The operations of the Poor-law, if partaking somewhat of the necessary rigidity of a system, are still, as far as they go, complete. The various relief committees take a wider view of the obligations of public charity, and step in at the point at which the instrumentality of the Poor-law ceases. If by chance any cases should be passed over, or be insufficiently relieved by both, there are many whose impulsive good nature bids them overleap all cold considerations of principle, to fly in the face of even a fancied wrong. The spirit of benevolence is indeed so strongly excited that I look with suspicion upon any alleged instance of destitution which has its tale of neglect to tell against guardians and relief boards alike; our charitable organizations probably commit errors enough, but rarely errors of omission. Let whatever distant goodness is thirsting for an object on which to expend itself recollect that our relief committees require money, our sewing schools materials; but let it shrink from itself undertaking to repair the mistakes and shortcomings of local energy and experience. A case in point has just presented itself, only one side of which has been suffered to reach the London public in all its beauty. One William Cronin wrote to the Times, on the 27th of September, a most pitiful letter from Hulme. Tens of thousands of pounds came into Manchester, and he and his wife were starving. He had had help from the Provident Society (for which he was pathetically thankful) for a few weeks, but could have it no more unless it was supplemented by a grant from the guardians. And then he tells his woful tale of application made in vain, and an absolute refusal of help. The effect of the letter was what William Cronin designed it to be; within a day or two 130 letters, most of them no doubt with enclosures, were delivered at his house. On the other hand, the facts of the case were these:—He and his wife (they had no family) earned, according to his own statement, 4*s.* 6*d.* a week by hawking—an income, therefore, above the average held to be a qualification for relief in several districts. He had been upon the books of the Provident Society for 26 weeks, and the very day before the date of his letter to the Times had been relieved with 2*s.* worth of food. And so far from having been refused relief by the Chorlton Board of Guardians, it was proved that his name was called three times, and that he had never put in an appearance. I recommend these facts, which rest on undoubted authority, to the consideration of those well-meaning persons on whom William Cronin so easily imposed.

The central committee held their weekly meeting in Manchester yesterday. It will be a satisfaction to the public to know that they have at length seen fit to direct a larger proportion of the funds entrusted to them upon the distress of the district. Grants were made to six places amounting in the whole to 6,740*l.* The other remarkable feature of the meeting was Mr. Farnell's report, which shows the rapid strides which the calamity is making. In 24 unions, 163,498 persons are receiving parochial relief, at a cost of 9,674*l.* 7*s.* 8*d.*, being an increase on the preceding week of 7,289; and in the same week of last year of no fewer than 119,990 persons. Returns from 31 relief committees, not including some of the most important districts, report that of 237,649 operatives, 83,000 were working full, 90,000 short time, while 83,000 were altogether out of work. This condition of the labour market involves a loss of wages in these 31 districts of 71,600*l.* per week. No rhetoric can add to the eloquence of these sad stern facts.
